After he begins his duties on Aug. 2, Hickey will be responsible for overseeing day-to-day nursing operations at the hospital, as well as developing and implementing nursing strategies and policies.

“Mr. Hickey will be instrumental in helping East Orange General Hospital to achieve its strategic goals, particularly in the areas of patient care, satisfaction and outcomes,” said Kevin J. Slavin, the hospital’s president and chief executive officer. “With over 16 years of nursing management experience, he brings the guidance and experience necessary to help the nurses at the hospital fulfill our vision to deliver outstanding, high-quality, efficient and safe care.”

Hickey recently served as director of emergency and adult acute care services at Saint Peter’s University Hospital in New Brunswick. He also has worked at Mt. Sinai Medical Center in New York and the Saint Barnabas Healthcare System in Union.

Hickey’s educational background includes a bachelor’s degree in nursing from New Jersey City University and a master’s degree in nursing administration from the College of Mount St. Vincent. He also is pursuing a doctorate in health care leadership from Seton Hall University.
